Performance Task

1. Ask the class to identify things an employer looks for in employees. (Be sure to include: acceptance of criticism, initiative, common sense, honesty, loyalty, cooperation, sound judgement, dependability, tolerance, enthusiasm, wellness, friendliness, willingness to follow directions, willingness to learn.) Be sure to discuss to be certain that students understand the reasons why employers have these expectations.
2. Discuss with students the qualities, behaviors, and working conditions that employees should be able to expect from an employer.
 - a. Respect and recognition of self-worth
 - b. Payment of wages or salary
 - c. Safe working conditions
 - d. Opportunities for training and advancement
 - e. Introduction to other members of the work-team
 - f. Adequate explanation of expectations
 - g. Fair and impartial evaluations
 - h. Honesty and opportunity to discuss problems as they arise
 - i. Benefits commensurate with tasks to be performed (and within company guidelines)

Since students will not be familiar with the workplace, spend some time explaining these expectations.

3. Arrange for students to job shadow for at least 4 hours at a local business.
4. Ask them to prepare a reaction paper summarizing their on-site experience. Ask them to relate to items they listed for #1 and #2 above in their reaction paper.
